To members of Japanese Society of Echocardiography

On behalf of Asian-pacific Association of Echocardiography (AAE), I like to encourage you to become an official member of AAE. Your Echocardiography Society is a member of AAE and our Society members are eligible to become a member of AAE free of charge for one year. AAE members will have reduced registration fee for future AAE meetings and have an access to entire set of "Mayo Clinic Echo Board review Course 2016" and many "Echo Tutorials". To become a member of AAE, please go to aaecho.org or Asian-pacific Association of Echocardiography in website. We are looking forward to welcoming you to AAE.

AAE was established to promote training, practice, and clinical investigation of Echocardiography in the Asian-Pacific region in 2013. Seven Asian-Pacific Echo Societies have become or pledged to become members of AAE (China, Japan, Korea, Taiwan, India, Hong Kong, and Thailand). AAE has held 4 successful meetings in conjunction with member Society's meeting and several joint sessions with European Association of CVI. We are planning the first independent AAE meeting in late 2017 and hope you can join us there to share your passion in Echocardiography with other members. We will also soon begin AAE webinar and "Cases from Members" in the AAE website.

Asian-Pacific region, especially your Society, has contributed tremendously to development of Echocardiography, but at the same time there are still many areas to grow together to provide the best care to our patients using Echocardiography. AAE promises to work together to build a global organization to advance Echocardiography and you can be a part of this exciting initiation to grow together.

Truly Yours,

Jae K. Oh, MD

President, Asian-Pacific Association of Echocardiography
